Internationally Known STEM Next Generation Workforce Expert to Speak at ITEEA's Minneapolis Conference

RESTON, VA, June 23, 2010 – The International Technology and Engineering Educators Association (ITEEA) is pleased to announce that one of the top counseling and career development professionals in the United States, Dr. Rich Feller, will be the Program Excellence General Session Speaker at the March, 2011 International Conference to be held in Minneapolis, MN. Dr. Feller is an internationally known educator who is particularly well versed in topics such as the Minneapolis Conference Theme, "Preparing the STEM Workforce: The Next Generation." His extensive work in career development has resulted in over 70 publications, seats on various Boards of Directors and editorial boards, hundreds of professional presentations and workshops, and countless committees and other service activities.

At the ITEEA General Session, Dr. Feller will address the 21st Century Workforce and how technology and engineering teachers can play a major role in shaping the workforce of the future, new basics for the next generation, and the sustainable workforce and environment. Dr. Feller's keynote presentation will be held on Thursday, March 24, 2011 at 9:00 am.
